

Page 1 of 4

Luckybug mixes a sunset orange on her palette for the gallery's empty centre wall. She wants her first large painting to be perfect.

Page 2 of 4

Quill-Berry carries over Ted's portrait—and bumps the table. A blue splash lands across Luckybug's glowing sky.

Page 3 of 4

Luckybug nearly hides the canvas. Then Flutter-Butter says the splash looks like a river, so all three turn the smudge into a moonlit town.

Page 4 of 4

At the gallery opening, visitors point first to the blue river. Luckybug signs all three names because the accident became their shared idea.

Questions for Luckybug's Art Gallery

Read the story together first. Use the page prompts and the questions after reading. Answers are below the dotted line: fold them under or cover them while reading.

Page 1

Talk together: Why is Luckybug taking such care with her palette?

Page 2

Talk together: What accident changes the painting?

Page 3

Talk together: How do the friends transform the mistake?

Page 4

Talk together: Why are three names signed on the artwork?

After reading 1

What did the friends turn the blue splash into?

After reading 2

What did Luckybug learn about mistakes?

Answers (fold under before reading)

After reading 1: A moonlit river.

After reading 2: They can become new ideas.